

Through the power of this communication tool, you can reach international businesspeople with an eye on the Faroe Islands.

SPONSORING an article or placing an ad in the Faroe Business Report is a great way of accessing important market segments or conveying your values to key constituencies. For those keen to share with an international audience what their position in the Faroe Islands may mean, this yearly publication is recognized as the information medium of choice — an undisputed leader in its field.

Authoritative source: An informative, richly illustrated, English language business magazine packed with useful and entertaining articles on current topics and issues related to the Faroese business scene, the Faroe Business Report consists of independent as well as sponsored features. The organizations and businesses presented are mostly leaders and main players in their respective fields, which — backed by high editorial and graphic quality standards — contributes to establishing the Report as an authority.

Wide appeal: Credibility and readability are hallmarks of the Report. With the editorial team's knowledge and experience in business news, corporate communication, public affairs, and professional photography, the yearbook has proved a success since its launch in 2005. It offers a wide appeal to readers looking for a comprehensive yet easily digested outline of the Faroes in a business context. The readership comprises business executives and managers, investors, professionals and decision makers, journalists, civil servants, and other persons with an interest in the subjects covered — subjects such as: Faroese trade relations, business tourism, fisheries, seafood exports, ports and shipping, maritime services, energy, and offshore oil and gas exploration.

Book your space: Using the Faroe Business Report to your advantage is both easy and inexpensive; e.g. sponsoring a feature article over a double-page spread costs 13,800 DKK (exc. VAT) and the price includes everything from interviews and copywriting to photography and layout.
